

ABSTRACT

Rohmah Hardiyanti C2014064 Nursing Science Program	Consultans 1.Tri Susilowati, S.Kep. Ns., M. Kep 2.Endah Sri Wahyuni, S.Kep. Ns., M. Kep.
DETERMINANT FACTORS OF PRISONERS PERSONAL HYGIENE IN LEMBAGA PEMASYARAKATAN KELAS 1 SEMARANG YEAR 2017
ABSTRACT
Background: Personal hygiene is an action to maintain the cleanliness and health of a person's well-being, both physical and psychological. Prisoners are individuals who have been convicted a crime and sentenced by the criminal court or loss of independence. Objective: To determine the determinant factors of prisoners personal hygiene in lembaga pemasyarakatan kelas 1 Semarang. METHODS: descriptive study with the study population in 1472 person, researcher took 100 prisoners who were in lapas kelas 1 Semarang as samples, the method that used is systematic random samling, which divides the number or approximate number of members of the population with the desired sample. Results: Univariate analysis showed the characteristics prisoners basedknowledge about prisoners personal hygiene indicate that 64 prisoners (64%) have good knowledge about personal hygiene, poorly behaved as many as 40 respondents (40%) occupant density does not qualify as many 93 (93%), educationallevel of prisoners show a high scool education were 48 (48%), employment of prisoners before being in lapas kelas 1Semarang working as private employee/ entrepreneur/ merchant/ service as many as 54 (54%) and length of staying in prison for 1-3 years is 36 (36%). Conclusion: Knowledge is good, bad behavior, density does not qualify, middle education, private employee/ entrepreneur/ merchant/ service, 1-3 years ld in prison.
Keywords : personal hygiene , prisoners/ occupant prisons, knowledge, behavior, density, education, occupation, length of stay	